

INSTRUCTIONS TO AUTHORS

The journal publishes original scientific papers, short communications, up-to-date review articles, and selectively book reviews from the disciplines concerned. Papers are published in English. Manuscripts should have English and Czech abstracts (including keywords). The author is fully responsible for the originality of the paper and its subject and formal correctness. The author's declaration that the paper has not been published anywhere else should be enclosed. The Board of Editors decides on the publication of papers, taking into account peer reviews, scientific importance, and manuscript quality. The SI international system of measurement units should be used. The manuscript should be submitted by the website: <http://agriculturejournals.cz/web/agricecon.htm>.

Copyright. The journal is protected by copyright held by the publisher after the manuscript has been accepted for publication. As concerns the transfer of rights, the corresponding author takes over responsibility for all authors. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored, or transmitted in any form or by any means, without the written permission of the publisher.

Manuscript layout. MS Word editor should be used for creating the text in non-formatted style strictly following the journal layout. Tables, graphs, and other material are to be submitted separately to the text. Each document should be printed, commencing on a separate sheet of paper, and its title and detailed description including the measurement units used should be indicated. Word editor should be used to create tables, for tables each item should be placed into a separate cell. Tables are to be numbered with Arabic numerals in the order in which they are referred to in the text. Graphs should be provided in MS Excel and they should be stored with original data (the font and type size should be consistent with the general journal format requirements to be incorporated in to the text). Autotypes (black and white ones are preferred) should be submitted in high resolution (min. 300 dpi) in JPGE or TIF format. All graphs and photos should be numbered, continually according to the order in which they are included in the text, again using Arabic numerals. All other material should be submitted in digital form, in high resolution black and white format. Colored photos or maps may be published following agreement, but this will be exclusively at the authors' own cost. All material to be included in a paper should be referred to in the text. If any abbreviations are used in a paper, they shall be explained appropriately when they are used in the text for the first time. It is not advisable to use any abbreviations in the paper title or in the abstract.

Paper title should be short, intelligible, not exceeding 85 characters. No subtitles shall be used.

Abstract is a short summary of the whole paper including an outline of the objective, method, results and conclusions of the paper, but it should not be a mere description. It should describe all essential facts of a scientific paper and basic numerical data including any statistical evaluation should be incorporated in the abstract. Keywords must be included. The abstract should not go to more than 170 words. Stylistically, whole sentences, not slogans, should be used. The abstract is an important part of the paper because it is published and cited in world databases. Czech authors should submit the paper title and abstract with keywords in English and in Czech, too. Foreign authors can submit an English abstract only.

Introduction should outline the main reasons why the research was conducted, demonstrate knowledge of the subject in question as described by a brief review of literature exclusively consisting of refereed periodicals, journals and books, and the goal of the authors.

Material and Methods. All preliminary material, experiments conducted, their extent, conditions and course should be described in detail in this section. All original procedures that were used for the processing of experimental material and all analytical methods used for evaluation should also be detailed. Data verifying the quality of acquired data should be indicated for the used methods. The whole methodology is only to be described if it is an original one, in other cases it is sufficient to cite the author of the method and to mention any particular differences. Methods of statistical processing including the software used should also be listed in this section.

Results and Discussion. The results obtained from the experiments including their statistical evaluation and any commentary should be presented graphically or in tables in this section. The author should confront partial results with data published by other authors, whose names and year of publication are to be cited by including them in the text directly [Novák (2002)] or indirectly [(Novák and Šídlo 2002), (Jákl et al. 2002)]. It is recommended to briefly evaluate whether the set goals were achieved at the end of this section.

References should be a list of refereed periodicals arranged in alphabetical order according to the surname of the first authors, following by the year of publication cited in brackets and full title of the paper in English with the language of publication in parenthesis, e.g. (in Czech). The title of the periodical should be typed in full, the relevant volume and page number, in the case of a book or proceedings the title should be followed by the name of the publisher and the place of publication. If the cited source is not in English, should be translated into it, the language in which the material was published originally should be given at the end of the citation (in brackets). Only papers cited in the text should be included in the list of references.
